Archives & Special Collections
Duplication & Copyright Policy

Requests for permission to duplicate materials in the collection are considered on a case by case basis; no copies may be made without permission of the staff. While many materials may be copied, certain items are too fragile to tolerate the handling required in the process of copying. Others may be too rare, under some sort of restriction, or may require special handling. In general, copies of entire books or manuscript collections are not permitted.

Please carefully read the copyright statement found below. Use of material and/or copies made under the “fair use” provision of copyright law does not imply or include permission to publish materials or copies. It is the responsibility of the patron to request and obtain permission from the copyright owner to publish materials. The UNA Archives generally does NOT own rights to material in its collections. Staff reserves the right to refuse to accept a copy request if in their judgment fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law. Additionally, copies are provided under “fair use” guidelines and such does NOT imply that there are no copyright restrictions on further use of the materials.

In citing materials from the collections, the following form should be used: Identification of the item, Title of the Collection, Archives/Special Collections, Collier Library, University of North Alabama, Florence, Alabama.

Concerning Copyright Restrictions

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the use of the proposed reproduction will be “fair”, i.e. that it will not be “used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research.” If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of “fair use,” that user may be liable for copyright infringement. UNA and its agents are not legally liable for copyright or privacy infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for “fair use.”

(For more information on copyright, or on obtaining permission to use copyrighted material for purposes beyond “fair use,” see the U.S. Copyright Office website at http://www.copyright.gov/).

I understand and agree to the above terms and will indemnify and hold UNA and its agents harmless from all claims, demands, losses or damages (including attorney’s fees and expenses) arising out of any legal action, settlement, or adjustment resulting from my not having followed the guidelines provided above.

_________________________________________  Date: __________________________

Name (Sign)

_________________________________________

Name (Print)

_________________________________________

Address, Phone Number, and Email

_________________________________________

Request for Reproduction of Materials, (for staff use):

Collection __________________________________________

Completed By/Date __________________________